THE ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY GROUP LAUNCHES AT LABS

Connecting with Entrepreneurs and Investors Focused on Innovation AT TiEcon

Sunnyvale, CA (May 17, 2013) – The Advanced Technology Group (AT Group) an investment holding company today launches its new innovation and incubation center, Advanced Technology Labs at TiEcon 2013, the world's largest conference for entrepreneurs and investors. AT Group, headquartered in Sunnyvale, CA, is purpose-driven with a mission to innovate, incubate and invest in companies that are focused in the areas of healthcare, internet and green technologies.

During TiEcon 2013 company representatives will discuss AT Group portfolio companies including the HD Medical that develops non-invasive cardiac screening devices and MatrixView that develops compression technologies for video and data bandwidth optimization solutions as well as other minority investments in promising emerging companies.

The TiEcon Expo focuses on fostering entrepreneurship and showcasing innovative companies like AT Group. "As an investment and technology holding company we are always looking to reach entrepreneurs and investors focused on innovation," states Mr. Arvind Thiagarajan, AT Group founder and advanced technologist. "We are very happy to be debuting AT Labs here at TiEcon 2013 which is the largest convention in the world dedicated to entrepreneurs and entrepreneurship." continues Thiagarajan.
